PROMPT ACTION NEEDED.

J. SLOAT FASSETT ON THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

THE DEMOCRATS IN CONGRESS SHOULD PROMPTLY DECLARE WHAT THEIR POLICY

WILL BE-UNCERTAINTY THE MAIN

CAUSE OF THE TROUBLE. "How can you expect a man who has been struggling with his own financial problems to have gray natter enough left to discuss those of other people and of the country in general?" asked J. Sloat Fas-sought his views on the present crisis. "And as for the political considerations involved, why, I have not been in politics lately, you know." But you keep yourself informed on public affairs?" suggested the reporter.

"As every man who means to be a good citizen Well, I shall be glad to give you the opinions I have formed. The situation may be described as the undertow of the Democratic tidal ve of 1832. The throes in which the business of this country is now laboring are largely the ref the change which the people voted for last year in ousting the Republican party from power nd placing the control of affairs in the hands of the Democratic party. The country went Democratic in 1892, and business has been going Demo-

"It is difficult to put your finger on any one thing and say "This is the cause.' No one cause is reble for all the trouble. The present depressed condition of business began in a reaction from a of easy borrowing, easy booming, inflation. The hard times resulting into hard times resulting from fright and panic. The Democratic candidates were elected on platform which threatened to reverse the inne policy of the United States, a policy under which the country had been prosperous for thirty platform which threatened to restore the mischievous system of State banks, and which threat ened to yield to the demands of the free-silver coinage men. Consequently, every interest which is affected by the condition of the currency and the tariff is in a state of semi-paralysis, resulting from uncertainty as to just what the Democratic party cratic party will patriotically repudiate its platwhether it will honestly fulfil its promises, or whether it will compromise with itself. If am right in the belief that uncertainty is the largest element in the present situation, what ought to be done is that which will most speedily clear the trouble will disappear if Congress promptly repeals the Sherman act; promptly, I say, for procrastination will deprive the repeal of this law of for it. I should be in favor also of a more generissue circulation up to the par value of the United States bonds which they hold. I do not agree with the proposition of Henry Clews, that the banks issue circulation upon their surpluses. You might as well permit them to issue circula tion on their capital.

Then there should be some action taken to certify to the country that, during the present disturbed condition of business, the Democratic party will not interfere with the tariff. For the sake of argument, one may admit that some changes are desirable. But even so, under the present circumstances there should be no changes, and the country should know that there are not going to be any changes for a definite period, in order that the business men affected by the tariff may make plans with confidence in the future. Whatassurances of this kind are to be given should be given promptly.

"Any one or all of the suggestions I have made, however, can only bring about a partial remedy for situation. The people are suffering from a midsummer madness and fright and are locking up their money. The currency famine has not come because corporations have locked up their money. dost of the money has been locked up by the plain people, whose individual savings are small, per-haps, but whose holdings in the aggregate are imtry is owned by the plain people, and not until prises will there be complete relief. It is the part of the statesman now to devise methods to reassure the plain people. At best there is only $5 of circulation for each $100 of business. The present stringency will last until the money put away in stockings and locked up in bureau drawers and safety deposit vaults shall be brought from its hiding places. safe in the banks and invested in business enter-which will prove satisfactorily efficient is the repeal of the Democratic party."

"What are the prospects for the fall campaign in this State." asked the reporter.

"Well, the Democratic party has been doing all in its power to restore the Republican party to power, and it looks as if it would do a great deal more before the election, especially if it nominates Judge Maynard for the Court of Appeals, and insists on trying to re-elect Frank Rice Secretary of State. There is no doubt that there are thousands of Democratic and wavering voters who have become tired of the change for which they voted last fall. If Tammany Hall were not in complete gossession of the election machinery in New-York City, I would confidently prophesy a Republican victory this fall. As matters stand Tammany can roll up any majority that it desires. I am confident that the county generally will give a good account of itself this fall."

SEABOARD CITIES. The California fruit growers are evidently determined to make hay while the sun shines. Taking advantage of their superb climate, which enables them to begin selling fruits earlier than the Eastern growers and to keep it up longer, they are just now monopolizing the markets of the East with their offerings. It is a little too seen for the great peach orchards of Delaware and New-Jersey to be heard from, though when they do appear in evidence the Eastern feelts command the situation. Nothing like the present display of California fruits was ever seen here before. "It is interesting to note," said a well-known auctioneer of California figuits, "the growth of the California fruit Industry in the East as the Eric Rallroad took out of Chicago for Boston and New-York 179 cars. The body of Miss Maria Bardwell, of Boston, who committed suicide at the United States Hotel in this city on Wednesday, was taken to Boston lest evening by Benjamin Bates Bardwell, her twin brother. Mr. Bardwell talked with a Tribune reporter in the under taker's office, at No. 95 Greenwich-st., late in the afternoon, and said there was no doubt that his sister was insane when she killed herself. She had been a high strung young woman, with a strong religious temperament, he said, and was almost a fanatic in religious matters. Her relatives had wished her to live in Boston, but she had insisted on staying in this city for more than two years. She seemed be much under the influence of Mrs. Murray, with whom she boarded, at No. 253 Eighth-ave.

Seven weeks ago Miss Bardwell received $2,300 as part of a legacy from the Lombard estate of Springfield, Conn., and Mr. Bardwell said it was known what she had done with the money, and that an effort would be made to trace it. He showed a letter, wherein his sister had written wildly to Mrs. Murray from South Brooklyn on July 25, as proof that his sister's reason had been impaired. Mr. Bardwell said he had never refused his forgiveness to his sister, and in fact had not had any serious quarrel with her. Their meeting and parting

Before leaving the city with his sister's body Mr. Bardwell paid a bill of $50 presented by the proprietor of the United States Hotel for damages to the hotel in connection with the suicide.

Foxall said that he gave the $500 to Brewer about May 27 last, but the "comsood to Brewer about May 27 last, but the "company" did not materialize. McGruther deposed that he was induced to pay the defendant $500 to secure an interest in the banking firm of Thomas J. Brewer & Co., Lincoln Fullding, Union Square, of which Thomas C. Brower pretended to be a member. McGruther says that there is no firm of Thomas J. Brewer & Co. in existence.

The deponents were relieved of additional sums to make up the $1,48110 by other sharp practices of Bookmaker Brewer. In default of $1,500 Brewer was taken to Ludlow-st. juil.

JUDGE CULLEN DENIES THE APPLICATION. HE DECLINES TO GRANT A TEMPORARY INJUNC-TION RESTRAINING THE CITY FROM PAY-

ING MONEY TO THE INFBINATES! HOME.

Judge Cullen gave a decision yesterday denying the application for a temporary injunction to restrain the city from paying 15 per cent of the excise moneys to the Inebriates' Home at Fort Hamilton. The injunction was sought in the suit begun by Alfred T. White and General C. Christensen to test the legality of the law of 1877 providing for the payments. It was the result of a conference between the Mayor and the friends of high license last spring, and the proceeding was a friendly one against the municipal authorities. The Home was a co-defendant and it was sought by the suit to recover $627,000 already paid to the institution. The case was argued before Judge Cullen on July 24. It was alleged in behalf of the plaintiffs that not only was the law unconstitutional in violating the clause prohibiting gift of public money to a private institution, but also that it had been repealed by the Con olidation Act of 1888. The injunction was sought to prevent the payment of any money to the Home pending the trial of the suit. The annual payments now amount to $69,000.

In denying the motion for an injunction, Judge Cullen said that the constitutionality of the statumoneys to the defendant would seem to be up-held by the decision of the Court of Sessions in Shepherds' Fold against the Mayor, etc., % N. Y. 137. The statutory revision of 1888, he thought, did not repeal the provision of the act providing for the payment. That act, he believed, was local and not general—but it was not local in reference to Brooklyn. tory provision for the payment of the excise moneys to the defendant would seem to be up-An appeal is likely to be taken.

FOR A MEDICAL UNIVERSITY.

The present offer of $50,000 by Dr. C. N. Hoagland to the medical organizations of the city on condition that they raise a like sum, for a building to serve as a general headquarters of medical men, has led up to a movement to organize medical university. It is proposed to unite the Long Island College Hospital to Hoagland Laboratory, the Brooklyn College of Pharmacy and the various medical societies. The plan is to propharmacy. A meeting is to be held next month to consider the details of the matter. It is thought that funds can be readily secured to put the plan into practical operation on a successful basis. Much good work has been done in scientific research at the Hoagland Laboratory, and the Long Island College Hospital has a high rank and turns out sixty or seventy graduates every year. The College of Pharmacy has educated many druggists. There are now 550 members of the Kings County Medical Society. There are now Medical Society.

NEW-JERSEY.

The New-Jersey Traction Company's new lease of the Newark Passenger Railway Company was filed in the office of the Register of Hudson County yesterday, and also in the Secretary of State's office in Trenton. It is to run for 999 years. It provides that for the first year, ending July 1, 1894, the rental shall be $60,000; for the second year $90,000, and annually thereafter $105,000. The traction company assumes the payment of interest on the $6,000,000 of bonds, including $1,600,000 of underlying bonds not yet payable, and also the interest on the Rapid Transit Railway bonds, and all money due upon the lease of the Rapid Transit Railway in pursuance of the agreement made when the Newark Passenger Company took control of that

The Republican Club, at the suggestion of the a strictly political, instead of a social, organiza-It is also proposed to make it the county Republican headquarters. Over one-half of the $10,000 needed to place the club on a sound financial basis has been raised, and there is every prospect that the rest will be subscribed in a few days, George Eisele, a silver plater of No. 750 Bergen st., was shot in the thigh early yesterday morning by Orville T. Baxter, a prominent business mar while robbing the hencoop in the rear of Mr. Baxter's home, in Clinton-ave. The wound is not serious, and Eisele was committed to the jail hospital to await trial. Mr. Baxter had heard from his son, who returned home after midnight, that two men were prowling about the coop. He hastily two men were prowling about the coop. He hastily dressed himself and, taking a shotgun, accompanied by his son, went into the yard and surprised the thieves at the coop. He called to them to throw up their hands, and one of them compiled, but the other, who proved to be Elsele, started to run. Mr. Baxter raised his gun, fired, and Elsele fell. The younger Baxter ran to where the prostrate thief lay, expecting to find him mortally wounded. But the thief quickly sprang to his feet and grappled with him. The eller Baxter ran to his son's assistance, and together they overpowered the thief and held him until two policemen appeared.

Baltimore, Aug. 4 .- Rusie was a good pitcher to-day. Three singles was the sum total of Baltimore's batting. Ten hits, with a total of thirteen bases, and a few Oriole errors gave the Giants an may victory. Ward's error gave Baltimore two of its three runs. Robinson's throwing to bases was like the weather-very bad. The Giants played in much better form than they displayed on Thursday, going about their work in a which argued well for their success. Tiernan is still on the hospital list, and Doyle covered right field. Stafford took his old position in centre and did excellent work, his rest apparently doing him a world of good. In spite of their poor batting the Orioles had the best of it up t the seventh inning, when the Giants began to bat in carnest

GAMES IN OTHER CITIES. Cleveland, Aug. 4.—The Chicagoes could not hit Young this afternoon, and the Clevelands played a phenomenal fielding game. McAleer, Callds and McGarr made some of the best fielding plays that have been seen here this year. McAleer fell headlong after catching a fly and slid on the ground for over twenty feet, but managed to hold the ball. In the first inning O'Connor's hand was hit by a pitched ball, and the little finger was broken. He was succeeded by Allen, a young college catcher, who reported to-day for a trial. He caught well. THE RUMORS ABOUT THE JUBILEE.

Boston, Aug. 4.—When the statement published this orning about the yacht Jubilee was shown to General Pains today he laughed and said it was useless to talk of such gossip. "As I understand it," said the General, of such gossip. "As I understand it," said the Genera when the races are started. That is all the comment I have to make. The rest of the statement

Arthur Binney, of Stewart & Binney, designers of the Jubilee's rival, the Pilgrim, when asked if he had hear! the story to the effect that the Jubilee had proved a failure laughed and said: "No, I certainly have not. It is ridiculous, and as for the Pilgrim being able to run away from her, from all that we have seen, they m to run remarkably close together.
